INSIDE STORY

SULC ALUMNI TAKE ON THE LOUISIANA BAR EXAM WITH CONFIDENCE

Southern University Law Center alumni began the first day of the Louisiana Bar Exam with the support of faculty and staff.

Their preparation was strengthened through a bar support initiative launched under the leadership of Chancellor Alvin Washington. Designed to provide structured review, targeted instruction, and encouragement throughout the study process, the program reflects the Law Center's intentional investment in student success beyond graduation.

Faculty and staff remained actively engaged, offering guidance, accountability, and reassurance during one of the most demanding periods in a law graduate's journey.

INSIDE STORY

TECHNOLOGY AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP CLINIC STUDENTS WITNESS FEDERAL APPELLATE ADVOCACY IN ACTION

Student attorneys from the Southern University Law Center's Technology and Entrepreneurship Clinic gained firsthand insight into federal appellate advocacy during a visit to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Students attended oral arguments in a trademark case, observing experienced litigators present complex legal issues before a three-judge panel. The opportunity provided a rare, real-world look at appellate strategy, courtroom decorum, and the nuanced questioning that shapes federal appellate decisions.

Beyond observing the proceedings, students had the chance to engage with the attorneys who argued the case, discussing litigation strategy and professional pathways in intellectual property law.

Following the hearing, the group had the distinct honor of meeting with Carl E. Stewart, who serves on the Fifth Circuit. Judge Stewart shared knowledge about appellate practice and the role of the federal judiciary, offering encouragement and perspective to the aspiring attorneys.
