SULC HOSTS SPECIAL LUNCHEON TO HONOR CHANCELLOR PIERRE

Leadership, faculty, and staff organized a surprise farewell luncheon to honor Chancellor John K. Pierre. Over nearly three decades, Chancellor Pierre has held various faculty and leadership positions at the Law Center. Under his guidance, the campus has achieved significant local and global success.

During the luncheon, Chancellor Pierre was recognized with commendations from city and state government representatives, while faculty and staff shared heartfelt recollections of his leadership and character.

INSIDE STORY

LOCAL EVENT BRIDGES THE GAP BETWEEN DIVERSE CLINICIANS AND HEALTH DISPARITIES

On June 14, Southern University Law Center and the Southern University Increasing Clinicians of Diversity Initiative hosted a day-long symposium geared towards having conversations with clinicians on topics plaguing the community such as air pollution, maternal mortality, advancing pregnancy care, and more.

Speakers included Dr. Uché Blackstock, author and founder of Advancing Health Equity; Dr. Pierre, Johnson, board-certified obstetrician and gynecologist; Dr. Rani Whitfield, board-certified family physician; Kiara Carnes, board-certified lactation consultant and co-owner of Maternal Love, and more.

Along with great conversations, attendees received free autographed copies of Dr. Blackstock's best-selling book, "Legacy", and Dr. Johnson's book, "Pulse of Perseverance."

SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY, LOVE HEALS THE BOOT HOSTS FREE HEALTH CLINICS ACROSS LOUISIANA

Southern University Law Center and Southern University's Increasing Clinicians of Diversity Initiative partnered with Love Heals the Boot to host a free health clinic in Alexandria on June 20. The free clinic offered essential dental, vision, and medical services to local community members. Attendees received SULC-branded backpacks filled with toiletries and health-related items.
